Public School Tuition Charges Are Abolished.

New Plan to Take Effect in September Next-A Woman Made the Motion-Report Discussed.

"Resolved, That the fees for attendance in all public schools in the Hawaiian Islands be and the same are hereby abolished, this action to take effect at the beginning of the next school year."

This was the resolution unanimously carried at the meeting of the Board of Education yesterday afternoon.

The report prepared by the committee on select schools was presented be-ATTORNEY AT LAW AND NOTARY fore the members. It gave a complete history of the fee system. The conditions on account of which such a plan was adopted were set forth. These were contrasted with the state of affairs existent today. The changes were made apparent and the pressing need for an elimination of the charge was made clear. In conclusion it recom- Price of Commodity Will Be High mended that the fee system be done way with.

The members were then called upon for their opinions regarding the report. The sentiment of all was that free education to all, irrespective of races or classes, should be the Board's policy. Each clause of the report was carefully discussed. The members felt the nedesired that every move should be toward the goal sought.

A New Business Man.

J. J. Egan, for fifteen years a successful dry goods merchant of Fort street, and one of the young men become wealthy by careful investments in real estate and sugar ttocks, is to retire from trade. Mr. Egan will be succeeded as president and manager for J. J. Egan Company, dry goods emporlum, by Mr. G. M. Whitney, who reached Hawaii but a fortnight ago. Mr. Whitney, a brother of Dr. J. M. Whitney, the dentist, is a dry goods man of many years' experience. He has been in business at South Bend, Ind. Mr. Egan has made a fine record in his business career here. He came here a mere boy, has been successful and has etablished hirself in every way. All who have met Mr. Whitney are impressed with the couple of facts that he is an agreeable gentleman and one who knows what he is about.

RIVERSIDE PARK.

The Superintendent of Public

Works informs the Advertiser that the reason for the delay in completing the Asla park is this: That before the area of the park can be properly filled in, the retaining wall on the side of the Nuuanu stream must be raised, and not only that, but the retaining wall for 1500 feet towards the valley must also be raised. If this is not done the waters of a flood may overflow the retaining wall and would then wash out the park. The proper laying of the retaining wall and its construction cannot be rapidly done. The entire length of this wall must be finished before the park can be filled. The work is progressing rapidly, and will soon be finished. Those who have taken the trouble to go over the ground, appear to be satisfied with the situation. A park subject to floods and overflow will be of little use.

Stocks continue changing hands at mall margine.

There is, however, this to be said: The local merchants have been wronged and deprived of that which rightfully belonged to them by those that are carried from month to month by the merchants. Men drawing good salaries should pay their bills and not use the merchants' money for stock speculation without their consent.

The merchants are kicking and they have a right to.

Trans-Mississippi Territory to be Represented - Subjects for Discussion-History.

Trans-Mississippi Commercial Con-

TERRITORY EMBRACED.

Each State and Territory lying west of the Mississippi River, and that part of Minnesota and Louisiana east of the river, and the Sandwich Islands are entitled to representation.

BASIS OF REPRESENTATION.

The Governor of Each State and Territory may appoint ten delegates; the Mayor of each city may appoint one delegate and one additional delegate for each 5000 inhabitants, provided that no city may have more than ten delegates. The executive officer of each county may appoint one delegate. Each business organization may eppoint one delegate for each fifty members, provided that no such organization may have more than ten delegates.

The Governors of States and Territories, members of United States Congress and all ex-Presidents of this Congress are ex-officio delegates with all privileges, except that of voting and election to office.

OBJECTS OF THE CONGRESS.

The object of this congress is to promote the husiness interess, and develop the resources of the States and Territories entitled to representation, and to increase reciprocal and foreign trade by the discussion of questions pertaining thereto, and to cultivate acquaintance, fraternal feeling, and a hearty co-operation among the various commercial bodies, and thus influence legislation and individual effort and promote the general welfare.

SUBJECTS FOR DISCUSSION.

Discussion will be confined to questions of common interest to the territory represented. Local and political questions will be excluded. Any ques-tion germane to the object of the congress may be introduced by the delegates, but the following are suggested by the executive committee, after a careful consideration of the many questions submitted by members. 1. Irrigation and the Arid Regions.

(a) Should Congress Legislate in Their Interests? (b) What Can Be Done for this Region by Individual Effort? (c) New Plants Adapted to Arid Lands. 2. Improvement of Western Rivers.

Floods of the Mississippi, Cause and Remedy. (b) Deep Water at the Mouth of the Mississippi. (c) Preservation of the Forests.

3. Water Transportation. (a) Nicaregua Canal. (b) Harbors on the Pacific Coast. (c) Gulf Outlet.

4. Transportation Facilities of the West. (a) Equitable Rates to Tide Water.

5. Our Trade and How to Increase It. (a) With Mexico, Japan, China, Hawaii, the Philippines and Cuba. (b) Pacific Coast Cable. (c) Shipbuilding on the Pacific Coast. 6. Mining in the West. (a) Should There be a National Department of Mines? 7. Agriculture, (a) Beet Sugar Industry. (b) Introduction of our Indian Corn in Europe as a Culinary Article

8. National Quarantine. 9. Statehood for the Territories.

10. Monroe Doctrine.

11. Homestead Laws.

12. Trusts and Combines. (a) Are They Beneficial? 13. Our Foreign Possessions.

Paris Exposition. THE BEST TALENT.

The men to whom has been assigned the subjects for discussion, have made national reputation by practical work and laborious study of the several subjects assigned to them. It is expected there will be present the President of the United States, the Governore of the several States and Territories, and many of the members of the National Congress, both Senators and Representatives, as well as some of the leading men from Hawaii. Hon. Hugh Craig, the president of this congress, is ex-president of the Chamber of Commerce of San Francisco, Cal., one of the most influential commercial hodies in the United States. The debates in this congress will be participated in by the most eloquent orators of the West, and a day spent here will be more interesting than a day in the Senate of the United States. This will be a notable gathering of the influential commercial men of the West.

THE ELECTRIC CANAL MULE

About one-third of the commerce of Germany is transported from place to place through the canals, of which there are many, running in all directions. On some of the canals the boats are propelled by poles, frequently in the hands of women; in other cases horses and mules are employed. Recently an electric car, which runs upon a small track laid along the tow path, has been introduced and is meeting with favor among canalmen. The power is transferred by trolley from overhead wires to the car, the boat being drawn by cable attached to the car.

CROSSING BRIDGES.

FRIDAY..... MAY 19, 1899.

The gradual rise in the price of plantation labor shows that the question of the labor supply is beginning to press. There remains now only a few months during which the planters can obtain laborers from Europe by assisted immigration, as it is well understood that such immigrants will be Hlegal as soon as Congress acts upon Hawaiian matters.

The feeling of the majority of the planters has been that they would not attempt to lay a bridge across the stream until they reach it. Their experience has been, for thirty years, that when they reached the labor stream the bridge across it was ready for them and they crossed it without delay. Men educated to hold this belief regarding the labor supply cannot, as a matter of human nature, take the present questions very periously. And yet they have had more than six years of distinct warning that the stream would be strong and swift.

In 1895 a labor commission was appointed under an act of the Legislature, and it made a report of more or less value. One of the commissioners, in order to obtain accurate information regarding the condition of Japanese immigration, went to Japan, at hin own expense, and spent several menths in an investigation of the subject. Among other things, he ascertained that a trenty could be made between Japan and Hawaii, which would provide for the immigration of laborers only, for a period of twenty years, under the supervision of both governments, and that the treaty would be have done it under the liberal policy virtually approved of by the United States. The value of such a treaty would be that in the event of annexation, it would still remain in force, and the labor supply would have been provided for many years to come, provided it had stipulated for the return of the laborers to Japan. Neither the Executive or the planters were interested enough in the matter to call for the report of the commissioner on the subject. There was an abundant supply of labor, and a movement to sestream was reached.

Just now there are no streams to cross. But any one who looks at the political eky will see that the rain clouds are slowly gathering in the mountains, and the streams will be very swollen next spring. When the bridge is thrown across it can be passed in single file only, and the laborers from 21,000,000 lire in 1885 to 56,000,- them whether or not gratitude is will enter a land flowing with milk and honey, but the plantations will be forced to furnish it without stint.

THE CURTAIN RISES-AT PUNA-HOU.

The presentation of a real drama within the sacred precincts of Punahou marks the ending of old things, and the beginning of the new. Gloomy, indeed, must be the meditations of the Rev. Dr. Bishop, when he sees the flood of theatrical immorality rising and sweeping out of Oahu College the pillars of virtue, leaving the slime and onze of sensuality over its historic

A cranky, but deeply serious wife of a New Bogland farmer had a grievance against a neighboring farmer because he had beheaded one of her aggressive roosters. She came to the belief, after due reflection, that his sin against her would be avenged by lightning or storm and for many years. whenever a dark cloud arose, she sat by her window close's warching for the stroke of lightning which would destroy her neighbor's house, and 'pay him off for his offense. She did not, for a moment, hesitate to believe that Providence had consented to ac on her behalf. ITALIAN IMMIGRANTS.

Immigrants from Italy have for the last twenty years settled in all parts of the United States. They differ from out regard to climate. The Germans, the English and the Irish do not settle in the Southern States for a variety of reasons, the competition with negro labor offering the most decisive argument against such settlement, so far as manual labor is concerned. In several hundred of the Southern towns Italian mechanics are employed, and in many places they are regarded as the best shoemakers. In the grading and construction of railroads the Italians are preferred to the negro, because management do better work than the

> Why the Italians should emigrate to the United States is not clearly understood. The natural outflow of emigration would be toward the southern republic. It is said that the rate of wages paid in America is higher than In Argentina. In addition, the laborers can, whenever they choose, buy land at almost nominal rates, and till their own farms

A movement to secure these laborers for plantation service on these Islands must keep well in view the conditions that exist in America namely, that of good wages and the opportunity to buy land at the most moderate prices

The Italians, like the Portuguese, are sorely afflicted with the disease of land-hunger Indeed, it is a worldwide disease even very prevalent in the Anglo-Saxon race. The plantation doctors and the local political doctors cannot stamp it out on these Islands

Taking a review of the human race itself, it appears that the Almighty has always been in a conspiracy to create this land-hunger-this absorbing desire for homes--and if He still ruce the world it is quite probable tha H s ideas will prevail in the end Ajax defied the lightning. RICHARD CROKER IS TRUTHFUL.

Richard Croker has made some shocking revelations before a legislative committee, which is examining the ways of Tammany. The committee was created through Mr. Platt's influence in order to exhibit the wickedness of the Tammany men. This has been the practice for some years whenever the secret deals between Tammany and the Republican leaders were suspended by acts of bad faith in the mutual distribution of spoils. The investigations, for the last thirty years, have invariably ended in a new understanding and a redistribution of the spoils

Although the Republican party, in the rank and file, stands for honesty and good government its leaders have often been able to switch it off, at the yoke it with the Democracy, in a common chase for boodle. Only the power holy alliance

Clever and brilliant as the Rev. Dr. turned from his European trip, after he had cleaned up, as he really believed, the great city, and found little evidence of his good work, he exclaimed: "I have gained nothing." He had only failed to comprehend the nature of the work he undertook. He closed up "dives," but he did not change the desire of men for "dives," any more than the Hawailan love of pol can be destroyed by taking away the taro. The destruction of "dives," and the destruction of the spoils sysfem is only reached through the education of the children. This system does not arise out of the "moral obliviousness" of the politicians who simply take things as they find them, but out of the moral obliviousness of the majority of the community which makes large and rich pastures for the spoilsmen.

THE RECENT LYNCHING.

The recent lynchings in Campbell county, Georgia, and the causes which led to them still continue to profoundly agitate the public mind of Georgia and of the South. The women are now writing to the journals about it, and demand that there should be some guarantee of protection against the unchained brutes that fill the homes in the rural districts with fear. One woman declares that for years the fear of sudden assault has been intolerable. Another declares that she and the women living in her neighborhood would gladly emigrate to other States if they could sell their property. There is no feeling of resentment against a large class of honest and industrious Governor Northen says that every home in the South should be a miniafrom he farms. Another writer admits that the condition of things is the ing negro immigration several hunignorant of the laws of social evolulitical superiority of the white race would continue forever, and the black race would remain forever subservient. In reply to the declaration of the Northern journals that the conduct of the whites in burning and lynching the negroes charged with offenses is given trial by jury? Have the guilty been separated from the innocent? Did not the frontiersmen rob, murder and plunder the Indians, and when some of them retaliated, were not the inno-

COCOS ISLAND.

Cocos Island is made of coral. It is situated six hundred miles southwest of Java. The population numbers at present 560 people. The ruler of the island is George Ross, whose father, a Scotchman, settled on the island many years ago. The people were savages, and there was no law and order. But by his integrity and executive force, the elder Ross created a most peaceable community of mixed negro and Malay races, and he has the nominal protection of the British Government although it furnishes him no force.

The business of the people is that of preparing copra, and out of it is made a moderate living.

Schools are not in existence. But Ross requires of every man that he learn a trade. So each one is a good carpenter and blacksmith. All of them can use the scales, and can make drawings and plans. There are workshops, and whenever a vessel is needed, it is built on the island. There is no money in circulation. If a member of the community desires to leave it Ross makes up his account and gives him his balance in cash. There is no gambling, and there are no drunkards

This is an instance of the use of common sense in managing a community Ross does it by using the ordinary business methods. He provides the people with work, and then controls them He knows the destructive the Chances of Profits in Cane Culture. power of "idle hands," and the conservative power of knowledge when it is made to be useful.

Why Ross has not established schools is not known here. Possibly panies. he was shrewd enough to see the germinating force of education, and the demoralizing effect of breeding wants which could not be supplied.

No doubt a study of his little community would develop many interesting points in sociology. At any rate he appears to be an apostle of the later faith that industry is in close partnership with godliness, and that there is little progress unless they are abreast of each other.

Another meeting. will be held Monday, when the final plans will be determined.

Following is the syllabus of the committee's report:

First-The appointment of a commissioner to collect exhibits from this Island, Hawaii and the other Islands. Second-A proper exhibit will cost $10,000, as follows: Collection of exhibits, $2000; president's expenses, $1000; salary secretary, $1000; expenses of secretary, $650; Quintette Club, $2500; photographic views, $500; freights, $700; running expenses at Omaha, including service of coriee, purchase of cream and sugar and salaries of girls in connection therewith, $1400; stenographer to Commission, Third-The committee believes this is the time and Omaha the place for the labor questions to be worked out to the best advantage. It is suggested that Col. Whyte, who will visit the States with stereopticon lectures, make Omaha his headquarters. He will be assigned a place in the Auditorium building for his lectures.

Section four points out the advantages of the exposition in the way of interesting capital and tourist travel in the Islands. Section five recommends that A. S.

Cleghorn be appointed president and Daniel Logan secretary of the Commission to Omaha. Section six recommends a liberal display of products, educational work, art, photographs, trees, shrubbery, and a fine collection of antiquities, also coral, shell and curios of every description. It is also suggested that if arrangements can be made with the St. Louis manufacturers a sugar mill in full operation be shown.

Section seven recommends that a native quintette club be procured to furnish music at the exposition. Section nine recommends that an ur-

KINCAID

Rejoices in the Publication-Suggests on Implications-A Reader and Hearer Writes.

A BOOK SERMON.

Sunday morning, at the Central Unfon Church, Rev. W. M. Kincaid chose as the subject for his sermon, "In His Steps." The text was II Cor., 5:16: "Though we have known Christ after the flesh, yet now henceforth know we Him no more."

One great value of the Epistles is that they show how the men who lived in the first century of the Christian era regarded Christ, what was the impression he made on their lives and hearts. The Epistles, then, are the best helps we can get to set forth what should be our true relation to Christ, and here we have Paul telling us what his relation with Christ was, that he knew him no longer after the flesh. What he meant by this was that he was no longer occupied with the mere details of Christ's life-not with the outward form, but with the inner spirit. Fix the eye upon the mere details of Christ's life, and for us who are living in an entirely changed world it is impossible to follow him. And yet in the reading of this book there are certain things that one needs to bear in mind I mention them not by way of unfavorable criticism, but by way of suggestion.

First-The real question is not that Christ do, but What would he have which the book asks, What would me do. There is a most true sense in which Christ's life was unique, and cannot be imitated. It was meant to be our inspiration. Another implication of the book is that it is the duty of the Christian to respond to the knock of every beggar at his door. On this point I have had some experience. The result of my experience has been that the great majority of such cases are impostors and if financial aid is given it will be spent at the nearest saloon. As a preface to this article the writer earnestly asks his readers not to consider him an iconoclast ready to face the Christianity that is andand anxious to destroy all that is the Christianity that should be. He good in the religious life that is, nor has not given the world a meaningless to class, him a ranting skeptic who theory nor a visionary scheme. sees little or no good in religion, Christian or non-christian.

Among thinking men and women today the conviction is rapidly growing ties, and it is a serious mistake to supthat the world needs more of the Christianity of Christ; less of the interpretation of Christ and man-made giving of alms. He does believe that creeds.

To many earnest thinkers after truth this question presents itself: Why do not men and women flock to the standard of that greatest of Teachers by the thousands yearly? After a test of two thousand years why does such a vast percentage of intelligent men and women refuse to accept His people as did Christ. teachings? Must it be said that the average mortal intentionally passes by what is for his own best good? Is it true that men and women with open into the midst of thousands of toilers eyes deliberately throw aside that which is for their own best welfare both in this world and in the world to come? Rather, is it not possible that something is seriously wrong with the Christianity of to-day? Is there not some vital force, the presence of which would cause the spirit of the Master to blossom in the hearts of the common multitude?

Let us look about us. We see one hundred representative business men; men whose daily lives tend to make us purer in thought, more honest in word, nobler in deed. Conscientious men these; ready to speak the kind word, to do the generous act. According to the popular meaning of the word they are not Christian.

It will take an "In His ty rounds of blank cartridges. Steps" to arouse the Christian apathy of to-day. It is not a book good for one to read to arouse a little religious enthusiam. It is a book to live.

It would be absolutely impossible for system to dare take as his motto: "What would Jesus do?" Be he rich would fall before the battle was fairly begun, and that too by the very hands of hard work.

But, how different it would be with a united body of earnest men and women, a sufficient number to form a society unto themselves, whose comvictory for humanity and God.

port had gone wrong. When being taken up to the prison Wade said, "Gillespie was the best friend I had on board the steamer. If tomorrow.'

Capt. Harry Evans did not recover from the excitement for some time. When seen last night his story was substantially as follows:

"I had been on board the Australia as usual, looking for stowaways and parties against whom complaints were lodged. After we reached the bell buoy I had got into the pilot boat. Suddenly I heard some shots, and Miss Helen Wilder rushed to the rail and told me a man was shot. I boarded the vessel and started down to the lower deck. Everybody seemed panicstricken. When I reached the saloon I met Wade. He pointed his revolver at me and called me a number of vile names and said he'd fill me full of lead. I endeavored to calm him by saying that I was merely looking for the man that was shot and that I knew he did it in self defense.

"As I was unarmed I saw it was use less to try to go further. I returned on deck and asked Capt. Houdlette for a weapon. He told me to go to First Officer Lawless, who furnished a rifle, with one load and cooked.

"With Lawless I went below. soon as I saw Wade I called on him to surrender. He answered by pointing his revolver in our direction and firing. I think he fired two shots. As quickly as possible I raised my rifle and let go. I don't know how long it took me to fire, but I didn't lose much time. Wade dropped. I thought he was killed and so reported to Capt. Houdlette.

To a few moments Chief Engineer Niemann came up and said that the man was only stunned. We went below and found that he had received a scalp wound, the bullet grazing the left side of his head. He was ironed and taken on board the pilot boat, together with his victim, who had been attended to by Dr. McNulty.

"After Wade had shot Gillespie he filled his revolver, which is a 38-calible Smith & Wesson, five shooter. So when he met me he was all ready for business.'

Chester Doyle, when seen last night, spoke as follows:

"I had received orders from the Po lice Department to be on board the Australia at 4 o'clock and arrest Mr. A. E. Sherman, who was thought to be attempting to leave the country.

"I took a boat at Brewer's wharf and went aboard the Australia, where I met Harry Evans and Jim Kupihea the police officers. Mr. Seeley, the steward, and I took up the search which had been vigorously conducted by Capt. Evans.

"When we were passing through the culinary department we heard Geo. H. Wade, the chief cook, crying "I'll cut h s heart out we started back. Suddenly we heard a pistol shot.

When seen at the police station last yesterday, night Wade at first would not talk. Then he said he had a "good" grievance against "Sid," but had not inrended to shoot Gillespie. It is believed that Wade had been drinking.

They made an examination of the body. It was found that two wounds had been inflicted. One penetrated the thigh, breaking the bone. The other pierced the abdomen, passed through the kidneys and lodged near the spine. This wound caused death. After viewing the body the inquest was continued until the arrival of the Australia. As there is no one here who saw the shooting this course was necessary. When the Austraila arrives the testimony of the negro, Sidney, and other witnesses will be taken and the verdict returned.

> At the prison in his cell Geo. Wade passed the weary hours in silence and solitude. During the night he slept fairly well. Occasionally he would wake and then he would walk to and fro in the narrow limits of his cell. When addressed he would not answer. During the day he ate heartily. He was very particular about his food, which was brought in from one of the restaurant. When lying down he would occasionally throw his arm before his eyes as if to shut out some unpleasant vision. He does not know the charge against him. He does not realize that the victim of his passion is to be buried this morning. No information was given him that when he appears before the magistrate that he will be expected to answer to the charge of murder in the first degree.

> Wade will probably be arraigned before Judge Wilcox this morning. The hearing will be continued until the return of the Australia, in order that the witnesses may be produced.

Visit to One of the Seminaries Teacher and Pupils-Confuclus-Singing is Heard.

Down in the heart of the Honolulu Chinatown, right in the middle of a square teeming with life, is a select Chinese school. The teacher is an old man who wears great round. glassrimmed spectacles. He is supposed to be very learned. The Chinese declare he is fully versed in all the wisdom of the olden times of the Flowery Kingdom. The school is popular, or at least is well patronized. The pupils number a couple of hundred and range in age from half a dozen years to youths and maidens of 16 or 17. The gathering is a picturesque one and to the person familiar only with the white man's methods of instruction, the proceedings are unique and striking. The books are all from China and are clearly printed and well bound. Each pupil has several text books. The course in the school seems to include reading and writing and singing and the philosophy of Confucius. This latter is given in the shape of lectures by the aged and serious instructor. The work in writing is laborious and trying. The pupils are taught with infinite trouble to make a couple of the queer characters. After the symbols are made the little ones are given the names of them and memorize these in sing-song, buzzing tones, all working at once and making a regular drone of a sleepy chorus. The faculty was asked about his lectures. He said that there was nothing original about them, but that he sought to be earnest and imme pressive in repeating or presenting the teachings of the Great Scholar of the Nation. "It was what is good and right and the best for all that Confucius has handed down," said the instructor. "If the scholars accept what I read to them from the greatest teacher, they will be happy amongst themserves, will be honest to all others and will be loved and successful." The scholars sang for a party of visitors. This was the blow that almost prostrated the veteran in the ranks of the explorers. The Chinese are lamentably weak in vocalism, though it is the testimony of the famous Paderewski that their instrumental music is of a high order. In getting all in readiness for the singing the old professor had more trouble than a starter at a race track with a field of a score of green horses. He shouted and scolded just a little. Then he smiled and called attention to the fact that visitors were present. The singing to at the top of his voice and with all the speed that his lung capacity would allow. The effect was something worse than a combination of a "come-al-yez" and an Indian serenade. But it was applauded and teacher and pupils were happy.

This Chinese institution is supplemental in its way to the public schools of the land. The same scholars are in various schools about the city till 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Then they have a couple of hours in the Chinese seminary. Most of the wealthier Chinese send their children back to the home land to learn the reading and writing and teachings of Confucius. In the public schools here the Chinese pupils are bright and industrious, but woefully tiresome in pronunciation.

Doan's Backache Kidney Pills in Honolulu.

Readers of the Honolulu papers are familiar with it. At first it created coasiderable excitement. Week after week went by and the good people of Honolulu ceased to wonder and settled down to the fact that what so many of their neighbors said must be true. Any medicine that is endorsed like Doan's Backache Kidney Pills by our own citizens soon becomes a household remedy. Ask any citizen of Honolulu what will cure kidney trouble nolulu what will cure kidney trouble and the answer invariably is "Doan's Backache Kidney Pills."

Mr. Charles Comey of Cyclomere St. this city, is one of the many persons who have tried Doan's Backache Kidney Pills with great advantage. He relates his experience thus:--"I have been a hack driver for a number of years past and this is an occupation UA in which, through exposure to weather and much jumping up and down from the vehicle, one is particularly liable to kidney complaint. I suffered myself, from a lame back for a long while, and in my anxiety to get rid of it tried several things which did not reach the root of my trouble. An advertisement acquainted me with what grant work Doan's Backache Kidney Pills were doing, and I got some of them at the Hollisaer Drug Co.'s store. I used them and with very much profit, for they relieved my back wonderfully."

Doan's Backache Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers or sent by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents per box. HOLLISTER DRUG CO,

To Be Married.

Two well known and well liked members of the Orpheum company are soon to be made one. Yesterday the engagement of Miss Myrtle Graham and Mr. William Sharp was announced. Miss Graham has been a favorite since her first appearance. Her singing of "Garibaldi," an Italian song, has caught the town. Mr. Sharp is the leader of the Orpheum orchestra. He is a pianist of fine ability. The wedding will take place June 1st.

THE STICK AND THE CRUST.

A stick and a crust of bread. Like the hands of a clock these two articles told the time o' day for nearly a year the hands of a clock, they were not visible at once. When he needed the stick he had no use for the crust; and when the crust was welcome he had no further occasion for the sick.

Albeit he was a young fellow of twenty-six, you would be wrong in supposing this stick to have been in the nature of a weapon for attack or defence. In that case the crust and the stick would have harmoniezd. As it a support, not a club.

Now, when a man feels the pressure of eighty or ninety years he is apt to want a travelling companion of that youth, not suffering from any injury fight only from under cover, much like ture of a contract with the troops and sort; but one in the very heyday of and not constitutionally feeble, or malformed, should commonly be able to walk without a stick. And so this young man had always done up to the time when he fell out with the crust and with all that the crust stood for or represented.

His own account of the circumstances runs thus:-'Up to October, 1893, I had been a strong, healthy, and active man. Then I commenced to feel weak and out of sorts. I was heavy, tired, and had no ambition or energy. What had come over me I could not imagine. I dirty phlegm. My appetite left me, and what little I ate lay on my stomach like lead, causing me great pain about the chest. A short, distressing cough settled upon me and troubled me day Orient.

and night. "At night my sleep was disturbed and broken with night sweats and frightful dreams. I had great pain at the left side around the heart, and my breathing was hurried and short. Next I began to spit blood and was greatly slarmed at it. I wasted away rapidly, losing over a stone weight in a month, and become so weak that I was unable to rise on my feet with-

Mrs. Stevenson declares that the Samean villages are inhabited in time of war by non-combatants, who have to choose between the saells of the warships and "taking to the bush." Under such conditions, she says, aclicate women can hardly exist, while children die like flies.

Mrs. Stevenson's letter concludes as follows: "Chief Justice Chambers has been represented as saying in a lefter to his brother, 'I never was happier.' He must be a person singularly devoid of imagination if he over pictured to himself the scenes being enacted in the bombardment of those villages; the exodus of panic-stricken people rushing hither and thither; shells bursting everywhere, the cries of bedridden and hapless wounded people burning alive in their blazing houses; women in the pangs of childbirth, mangled children crawling on the sands, the sea before shelled. Who is to be held accountable for these deeds that disgrace both England and America?"

EDITOR P. C. ADVERTISER:-Since you take some liberties with my name in an editorial of this morning upon the subject of dramatic exhibition at Punahou, about which I had not intended to write anything, will you kindly allow space, in illustration of what a leading London theater actually is, to reprint a theatrical critique from the London Daily Mail of March 3, 1899. It suggests that until the existing stage has been disinfected, it may not as yet be a safe thing to make it a factor in the education of our youth. It also indicates a reason why one who marries an actor or an actress, is apt to suffer lible. lowering in social repute.

S. E. BISHOP. Honolulu, May 17, 1899.

"THE CUCKOO."

farce. Certainly a very funny brilliantly written, full of witty phrases and humorous characteriza-tion. In all probability it will be a great success—the ladies and gentlemen at the Avenue Theatre last night laughed heartily and with keen en joyment from beginning to end.

We have ceased to write for the young lady of fifteen, and no doubt it is very right and proper that it should No doubt it is very right and proper and creditable to turn the stage into the club smoking-room—a "smart' club smoking-room. Equality of the sexes is in the air. By all means let us divert our womenfolk with "smut" —good, forcible slang is "smut." But it will be interesting to note the attitude of those who lift up their hands in holy horror if a serious play treats of vice in serious fashion, though its aim may be high and its motive lofty -it will be interesting to note the attitude of these towards "The Cuckoo," Mr. Brookfield's adaptation from Meilhac's farce, "Decore."

No doubt this picture of fact and flippant libertinism; this rechauffe of 'funny stories" which used to wait until the ladies had left the dining-room; these references to the "demimonde" and "common women," and to "our" room by a lady on a trip to a riverside hotel with a man not her husband; these blatant women "picked up" at Niagara; these black men in their shirts; these "damns" used in the presence of women-no doubt these are the concomitants of successful plays. We do not write for the young lady of fifteen. We are enlightened, we are emancipated, we have left all the sill; old prejudices behind us. No doubt they were provoked Humphreys was 'smart society" will flock to the Avenue. Our duty is not to dissuade the tute of vanity. I think he had conpublic, only to tell them what to expect. Then if they rush to the Avenue Theatre it is their business, they must look out for themselves.

Some may say that frank indecency would be better than the shallow hypocrisy of these English perversions of the French, which mask everything the lips utter, but accentuate it with a wink and a leer. That question it is not necessary to argue.

We do not blame Mr. Brookfield-if blame is deserved. He is a witty, a caustic and clever writer; he was told to adapt "Decore" and he adapted it. He has tried to cleanse it as much as possible; he has crammed his work with brilliant lines and drawn for us many humorous and amusing characters; he has done his work very skil fully. We cannot blame him-and we are sure those expletives are not his: all we might ask, were we disposed o display our prejudice and our digotry, is Why was Decore brought 'o England at all?

It is, of course, ridiculous to see anvbing unfit in the story of a husband and wife taking jaunts for a night into the country with ano her woman action and no her man. Nothing wrong actually happens so why complain? Why object when it is on a suggestion and suggestive, ess from wg naing to end? The theathers not for the voing lady of fifteen. It is still suppose the be for gentlewomen, however. But if the gentlewomen do not object----

FILIPINO GENTILITY.

"Speaking of the oft-repeated statement that the Filipinos are a very degraded, ignorant and uncivilized people reminds me of a night I spent at a Filipino club," wries Charles L. Jewett, of New Albany in an exchange "I was invited to attend the opening of the club. I had not been in Manila, long, and everything was new to me Out of curiosity I accepted the invitation, and went to the function in my every-day duds, not dreaming but that it would be a very rade and coarse, if not comical, affair. WHARF AND WAVE.

The Ke Au Hou and Kilohana, from Kauai, are both expected today. The German S. S. Tai Fu will sail for San Francisco this morning. The W. G. Hall and the Iwalani leave this forenoon for the usual ports. The Ka Moi is discharging her cargo into the Mary E. Foster, off Brewer's whart.

The schooner Jessie Minor occupies berth on the marine railway for an date of the coupon. overhauling.

Capt. Johnson, of the schooner Charles R. Wilson is accompanied by nis wife and child. Both the schooners W. H. Talbot and F. S. Redfield will leave for San Francisco during the forencon. The schooner Aloha made the run from San Francisco to this port in the smart time of thirteen days. The ship Fort George is receiving her cargo of sugar at the Inter Island wharf from the W. G. Hall and Iwa-

The U. S. T. S. Solace will leave for San Francisco some time during this afternoon. A mail will be taken. Mail closes at the post office at noon.

Water front rumor has it that the U. S. Iroquois expects sailing orders from the department on the next mail steamer from the coast. Just where the orders will send her is not known. The W. H. Talbot is taking on ballast at the Oceanic wharf. She will sail for the Sound tomorrow. From there she will go with a load of lumber to China so that it will be some time before the Talbot will be seen in these waters again. .

News was brought by Purser Tuft of the W. G. Hall of the accidental death of an infant of one of the laborers at Pahala plantation. As the child slept in the same bed with the parents it was supposed to have been smothered during the night.
